FOLLOWER OF IKE WALTON EXPLAINS

It will be recalled that The Journal | landed not les sthan a dozen each, of carried a report a few days ago of a fishing trip, saying that M. J. White returned from such a trip with several fine trout. It appears that there were others on this trip and that the public announcement of Mr. White's success has caused the green-eyed initials. monster to appear on the scene. In fact The Journal's sporting editor was told today that Mr. White had been accused of having a publicity agent! The discussion has waxed furious of the above gentlemen when it come and yesterday the following self-explanatory letter was received: Editor, Journal. "Dear Sir: I am an American, born and bred, and naturally believe in fair fish scales. I caught the red fish play. In your issue of the 14th, under "News Briefs," you say: "M. J. White had a successful fishing trip on the bay yesterday, returning with several fine trout." And that was all you said.

I do not wish to belittle Mr. Marco White's fine catch, for I was there when he was doing some really fine casting, and among the large trout he caught, I saw him bring in his largest one which he says weighed 8%

"There were in the party two others who helped make the fishing trip one of the most successful of the season. I refer to perhaps the most expert anglers in Florida waters, if not trip. in the United States, Messrs. Walter F. Biggs and M. H. Luff, who I am sure

"I am too modest to make any big claims as to the fish I caught for I am not classed as an expert. I know I am not in the same class with any to casting, but I will say that I brought in four large trout, two horse mackerel, and a red fish that weighed 14% pounds on the Sportmen's Supply Store with a 'fly' on my fly rod.

"Messrs. Biggs and Luff put me in the shade with their catches and I will admit that Mr. White also beat me badly. We are all in such good humor over our successful trip that none of us are jealous of the others' luck and no one is mad. I just want to let the public know the whole truth, and I know that Mr. White, who couldn't be anything but fair if he tried, will be glad when he knows that the public, and especially the other sportsmen on the trip, have a statement in your paper giving credit to all for the success of this fishing
